Oxford County Fruit Show

Arrangements are being made for the second annual Oxford County Fruit show to be put on in connection with the Farm Bureau and Extension annual meeting, November 4, 5 and 6, in Association Hall, South Paris. An able committee has been appointed with the following as chairman:

General Chairman—A. A. Conant, Hebron, Me.
Local Arrangements—Irving E. Andrews, South Paris.
Finance—George F. Eastman, South Paris.
Publicity—V. W. Canham, Westbrook.
Admission—T. R. Chase, Backfield.

Two Glenwoods that were first lighted when Cleveland was President—

Model "C" for Coal or Wood

In pearl-gray or glossy black enamel which eliminates stove blackening forever. Also in the standard black finish. With or without a reservoir for hot water.

"EARLY in the fall of 1885, I purchased two Glenwood stoves—one for cooking and the other for heating. I am still (1925) running both stoves—the cook stove all year round and the heating stove from early fall to late spring.

"None of the iron of the cook stove is warped or even twisted and the seams have held well.

"I cannot imagine how a better running stove could be made than the Glenwood. My two have given perfect satisfaction for over 39 years."

This unsolicited testimonial from Charles W. Powers, Spencer, Mass., is only one of thousands which tell, in their own way, of the place which Glenwood Ranges hold in the hearts of their users everywhere.

NOW DOES ALL HER WORK

Has No Backache, No Bad Feelings Because Lydia E. Finkham's Vegetable Compound Drove Her Illness Away

Milwaukee, Wisconsin.—"I was in a badly run-down condition and I would get weak spells and terrible headaches. I felt so badly last year that I could not do any housework. The minute I would lift or stoop it seemed as if I was going to fall to pieces. I told a neighbor how I felt and she said that Lydia E. Finkham's Vegetable Compound was surely the right thing for me. I took four bottles then and in the fall of the year I was well again. I had been iron tonic and that did not help me. It seemed that the tonic did not have in it what the Vegetable Compound did. That gave me the strength and ambition I needed and I have gained in weight. This year before I started to clean house I got four bottles of the Vegetable Compound and am taking it right along. I tell all my friends about it and how much good it does me. They can notice it because I have gained in weight. I weigh 115 now and do all my work myself again."—Mrs. EMIL O. BRANDENBURG, 651 37th Street, Milwaukee, Wisconsin.

RAIN UPSETS WORLD'S FAIR

FIRST REAL RAINY SATURDAY FOR WORLD'S FAIR IN MANY YEARS.
LARGEST AND BEST LAY OUT IN HISTORY

For the first time in years the World's Fair, at North Waterford, collided with rain on Saturday, and the officials broke all precedents by postponing the event until Monday. A large first day crowd assembled Friday and it is estimated 2,000 people meandered over the lot Saturday, despite the mud and lowering skies. Rain early Saturday forenoon was a bad omen and before noon the word was passed around that the fair would be carried forward to Monday. The clouds lifted somewhat and before one o'clock crowds gathered in the east-way and fairs opened for business. This was a busy place during the afternoon and not unlike a regular day in fair weather. Within two hours the square was thronged and available space used for parking cars. The pulling scheduled for Saturday was postponed and the Norway-Paris Band was not in attendance. The dances were not largely patronized Saturday but Friday and Saturday nights both halls were packed. Cold drinks and ice cream vendors were out of luck but the "hot doggie" and hot lunch booth were more than busy passing out cheer to the shivering mortals. The World's Fair had the largest and best lay-out in its history, and was in line for the most successful show ever held in this time honored hamlet. Among the outstanding points were large exhibits in a new hall, and strong attractions on the midway including a real ferris wheel and chair plane.

Hall Exhibits
A large display was shown in the grange dining hall recently completed. Waterford Grange occupied one end, with an attractive show of farm produce and specimens of needlework from the home. Canned goods, fruit and vegetables, cut flowers and antique shelves, surrounded with rugs, quilts, sofa pillows and other articles made by the skillful housewife. A table showing many old fashioned things was one of the drawing cards. Among the antiques were mortars and pestles, old china dishes, candlesticks, weaver's shuttle, powder flask, a whale oil lantern and a collection of books printed early in 19th and before. Small objects made from natural rocks by Donald Matherson at Prince Edward Island were curious things resembling the work of Indians. A collection of beautiful sea shells was noticeable. A long table in the center and appeared to advantage in the new surroundings. D. H. LeBrock showed potatoes and twenty varieties of beans. Mrs. Amos McKen, North Lovell, had a variety of apples and cucumbers of unusual size. Harold S. Pike offered nine varieties of apples and a large collection of vegetables. Beautiful cut flowers surviving Jack Frost were shown by Mrs. Harold S. Pike, Mrs. C. A. Hersey, and Mrs. George H. Rice. A novelty bouquet of grapes, bananas, peaches, etc., was the work of Mrs. Lydia L. Shedd. She also had a large display of fruit and vegetables. A jar of golden butter was tendered by Mrs. Lydia L. Shedd. Highland Farm, owned by Addison and Arthur R. Millett was represented by a large exhibit of apples. There were sixteen varieties of some of their best fruit. E. B. Hersey & Son were on hand with a large collection of squashes, cabbages and apples. J. H. Briggs, Albany, showed carrots and turnips. Among other vegetable and canned goods displayed were those of Albert H. Rice, Arthur Proctor, Donald Green, P. M. McKen and Mrs. Crouse. Fancy work with a large number of pieces offered for sale were shown by E. B. Hamlin, Leona M. Kimball, Mrs. Winfield McAllister, Mrs. Ernest Crouse, Dorothy M. Green, Eloise P. Millett, Mrs. Edith McAllister. Embroidery and crocheted work were conspicuous, with many beautiful articles exhibited by Mrs. Harold S. Pike, Edith Littlefield, Mrs. W. L. Flint, Elizabeth Millett. Mrs. Arthur Millett offered a pair of mittens knit with homespun yarn. A black silk shawl over 100 years old was exhibited by Ella Henley. Mabelle H. Hersey, aged 7 years, had samples of her sewing. J. H. Briggs displayed samples of his handicraft in crocheted articles, which are said to have taken prizes at the county and other fairs. The Girls' Sewing Club showed their wares in a collection of aprons, work bags etc. Among the girls contributing articles were Leona M. Kimball, Mary C. Hersey, Arline A. Henley, Sarah Hersey. The little folks in school were represented by Ella E. Rice, aged 8, who offered an interesting collection of cut-out crayon drawings. Miss Hazel Bicknell of Norway had a booth where the latest styles in hats from The Fashion Shop were shown and many sales were made. This was her fourth year at this fair. Mrs. A. L. Fredlove of Bridgton also showed a line of ladies' head wear in the felt and velvet. This was her fifteenth time at the World's Fair. A long counter on one side of the hall was devoted to the sale of Art Craft work and jewelry.

World Fair Notes
Monday was another disagreeable day and the small crowd found many vacant spaces along the midway. The fairs left in droves, Sunday, for other fairs and there was not much left to enliven a wet weather gathering. Shaw's Orchestra, four piece, played for a well attended dance at Odd Fellows' Hall, Monday evening. Walter Hurd, his family, and the hairless calf, Angina, left for the Acton fair Sunday, and afterward will jump home to Kennebunkport where the two children will enter school. This has been their first season as trouper, but more cash has been earned in two months than at eight months' back-breaking farm work. The football game between Bridgton Academy and Berwick Academy, while not a part of the fair, was a booster for the town. The game was played on the Sunday field, about half a mile from the show grounds, on the Lynchville road, and drew a good lot of spectators. Bridgton swept the field with a score of 36-0 in a burst of speed not expected from slippery footing. R. M. McKen was in charge of the hall exhibits, which made his fourteenth year. "Sawing Club" showed their wares in a collection of aprons, work bags etc. Among the girls contributing articles were Leona M. Kimball, Mary C. Hersey, Arline A. Henley, Sarah Hersey. The little folks in school were represented by Ella E. Rice, aged 8, who offered an interesting collection of cut-out crayon drawings. Miss Hazel Bicknell of Norway had a booth where the latest styles in hats from The Fashion Shop were shown and many sales were made. This was her fourth year at this fair. Mrs. A. L. Fredlove of Bridgton also showed a line of ladies' head wear in the felt and velvet. This was her fifteenth time at the World's Fair. A long counter on one side of the hall was devoted to the sale of Art Craft work and jewelry.

World's Fair Dinners
The ladies of the Congregational Church followed the time honored custom of serving dinners and suppers in the vestry, with the entire community furnishing food and help. Mrs. Ella Charles was in charge of the tables, with a corps of able assistants. Charles Hersey, Charles Saunders and George Kimball sold and collected the tickets. Miss Harriett Knight was in charge of the tables on Saturday with the Grammar school girls as waitresses. Business was good Friday and one of their largest first day spreads. Patronage was large on Saturday, considering a comparatively small crowd on the grounds, and there was an abundance of food for all. Extending the table to Monday taxed the cooking ability of ladies, but they were equal to the emergency. Meals were also served at Rice's Tavern and in several private families.

Poultry
Several coops were placed near the exhibition hall, where Myron Lord showed a White Wyandotte cockerel, hen and pullet. George A. Hunt had R. I. Red pullets and large cocked. Dancing
Flint's Festive Fiddlers played at the Grange Hall, while Shaw's Orchestra of South Paris held out at Odd Fellows' Hall. Both places had good business Friday and Saturday evening but the crowd Saturday afternoon seemed to prefer other sport and the dances were not largely attended.

The Fun Trail
Never before were there so many vendors in the square. Tents and booths, riding devices and auto stores were packed along the highway to Waterford Flat. The balloon men and weight guessers were there and vied with medicine vendors, hot dog sellers and fairs hawkers. Palm readers coaxed quarters from the curious and rheumatic joints found a friend in snake oil, also said to be a panacea for many other ills. Littlefield & Heath operated the old time merry-go-round of the flying horse style. This machine whirled many years ago at the big fairs, but old age creeping on has sent it to the chimney corner, as it were. The weather veteran rested quietly at North Waterford and is assembled each year for the World's festival.

Hills' Ferris Wheel
The hills' ferris wheel that has been in operation with a small carnival at many towns the past summer, carried loads and did good business. Bob York and his chair plane brought to the country a sport popular at the beaches. This ride being a novelty, attracted young people and others not so young in years but filled with sporting blood. Baby Thelma, the child with a mystic mind, entertained with astonishing feats of "second sight" and telepathy. Angina, the hairless heifer calf that attracted the curious at the Oxford County fair and Fryburg fairs proved a strong card and had people guessing. The freak belongs in Kennebunkport, Me., and will go over the circuit next year if equal to the rigor of winter. Homer Truman's athletic show featured Prof. Landry and his iron jaw. The performer twisted horseshoes held between his teeth, and two strong men were unable to turn an ax handle held firmly between his jaws. Among a small army of victualers were Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Richardson of Norway and Bill Twitchell of Oxford, who catered with hot dogs, sandwiches, lunches and soft drinks. Edwin Gammon and son of Norway had a ball throwing outfit as did Henry Downs, a well known follower of fairs. John Carrigan, known for years at the county fair served "dogs" and soft drinks. Mrs. Wiggins and Mrs. Barrows of S. Paris sold homemade fudge and kept smiling although water trickled down through the canvas top and kept them dodging. The men selling flashy blankets and baby dolls of decorated plaster made good with art proving scheme to win these prizes. History repeated itself in the came racks that have appeared this season. The swagster stick craze probably is responsible for the return of this old timer. The Skeeter family of Scarborough had sweet grass baskets offered for sale and are completing a season of roving about the state where summer visitors congregated. Fred Kenney handled snakes, told a lot about their habits and about human ills that crumble under the application of an oil that he sold. He had several harmless reptiles from Texas that coiled about his thighs and sent shivers through the crowd, but the diamond back specimen with a set of eight rattles was handled with care. Saturday afternoon and evening, during the Grange dances, Miss Dorothy Foss of Auburn appeared in solo dancing with Mrs. Wilberger at the piano. They received a good hand and kindly gave an encore. This little seven year old dancer is a pupil of Miss Murphy of Lewiston and has appeared several times in classic dances at City Hall, Lewiston.

World Fair Notes
Monday was another disagreeable day and the small crowd found many vacant spaces along the midway. The fairs left in droves, Sunday, for other fairs and there was not much left to enliven a wet weather gathering. Shaw's Orchestra, four piece, played for a well attended dance at Odd Fellows' Hall, Monday evening. Walter Hurd, his family, and the hairless calf, Angina, left for the Acton fair Sunday, and afterward will jump home to Kennebunkport where the two children will enter school. This has been their first season as trouper, but more cash has been earned in two months than at eight months' back-breaking farm work. The football game between Bridgton Academy and Berwick Academy, while not a part of the fair, was a booster for the town. The game was played on the Sunday field, about half a mile from the show grounds, on the Lynchville road, and drew a good lot of spectators. Bridgton swept the field with a score of 36-0 in a burst of speed not expected from slippery footing. R. M. McKen was in charge of the hall exhibits, which made his fourteenth year. "Sawing Club" showed their wares in a collection of aprons, work bags etc. Among the girls contributing articles were Leona M. Kimball, Mary C. Hersey, Arline A. Henley, Sarah Hersey. The little folks in school were represented by Ella E. Rice, aged 8, who offered an interesting collection of cut-out crayon drawings. Miss Hazel Bicknell of Norway had a booth where the latest styles in hats from The Fashion Shop were shown and many sales were made. This was her fourth year at this fair. Mrs. A. L. Fredlove of Bridgton also showed a line of ladies' head wear in the felt and velvet. This was her fifteenth time at the World's Fair. A long counter on one side of the hall was devoted to the sale of Art Craft work and jewelry.

NORTH BRIDGTON
S. C. Ridlon and family were Portland visitors, recently. Walter Crockett and family spent Sunday at their old home in South Naples. Blanche Crockett is a teacher in the primary school at South Bridgton. George Crockett went to New York the past week to visit the windswept fox farm at which he is spent. Several attended the football game at North Waterford, Saturday, in spite of the rain. Mildred Ward is spending her vacation home with her mother, Mrs. P. B. Howard. She has been at work for Mrs. P. P. Freeman during the summer, at Harrison. Nelson Wentworth and wife were Sunday guests at his sister's, Mrs. Perley Howard's. Mrs. Ella Grey has named her cottage "The Granda." She is serving hot dogs, sandwiches and afternoon teas to the public, and is very busy. RUMFORD POINT
Mrs. Baker and daughters have closed up their house, and gone to New York for the winter. Lester Johnson, Lynn Farrar, and Dick Lowe, of Auburn, were in town, Monday, buying stock. John Martin has put in a pool table over his store. C. E. Thomas, Al-White and wife, took in Fryburg fair.

Two Ma Studeba

1-One-Profit

THERE are (as you probably know) two manufacturers who make their cars complete — make of the bodies, engines, clutches, steering gear, springs, gear sets, axles, castings and drop forgings.

One of these is Ford — in the field. The other is Studebaker in the field.

Because we eliminate the extra overhead that many other manufacturers pay to outside parts and body shops we are able to use finer materials — yet charge no more than the cars.

But there is another side to One-Profit feature that no careful buyer can afford to overlook.

Under this One-Profit policy the engineered and manufactured as a harmonious unit in Studebaker plant functions as a unit. And this adds you scores of thousands of miles of greater riding comfort — minimum higher resale value.

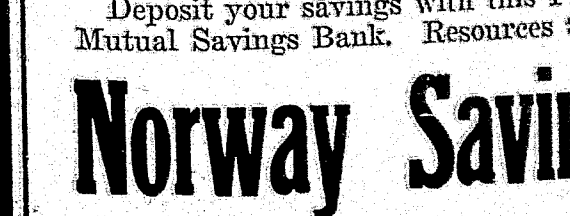

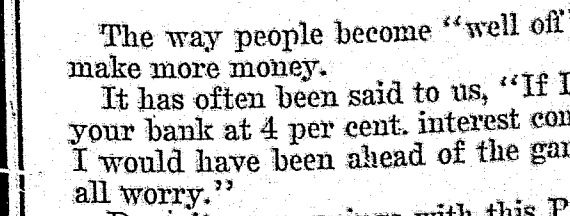

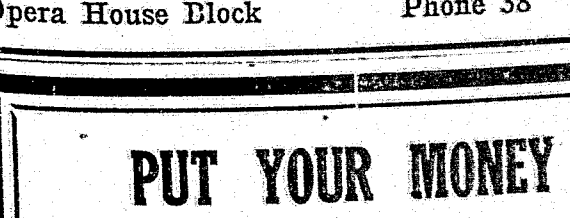

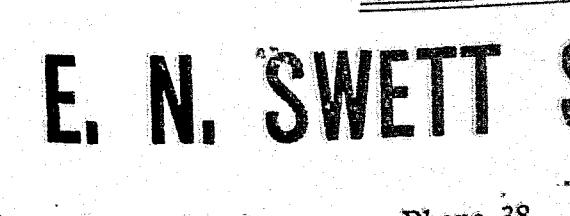

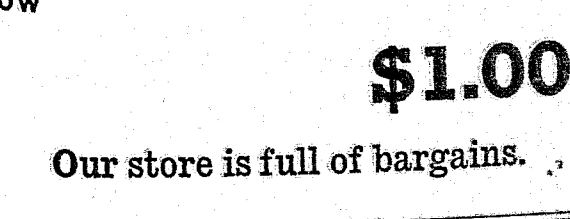

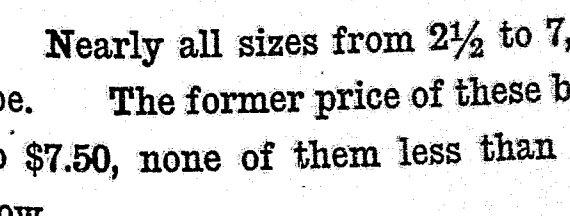

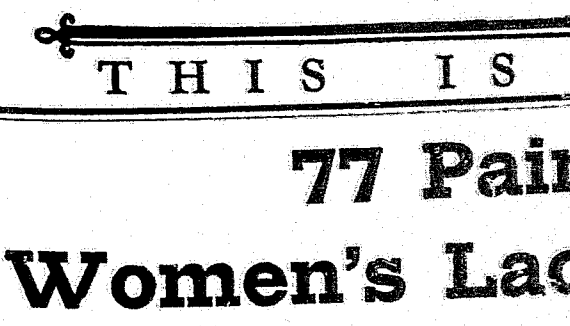

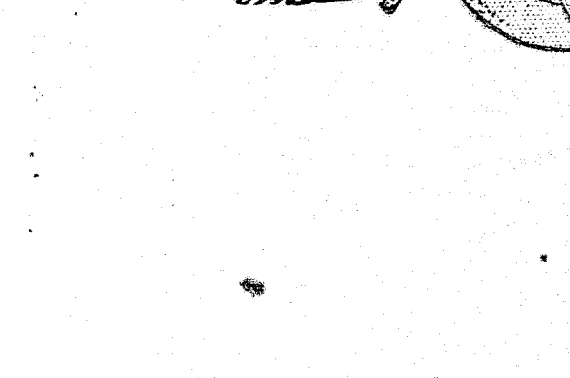

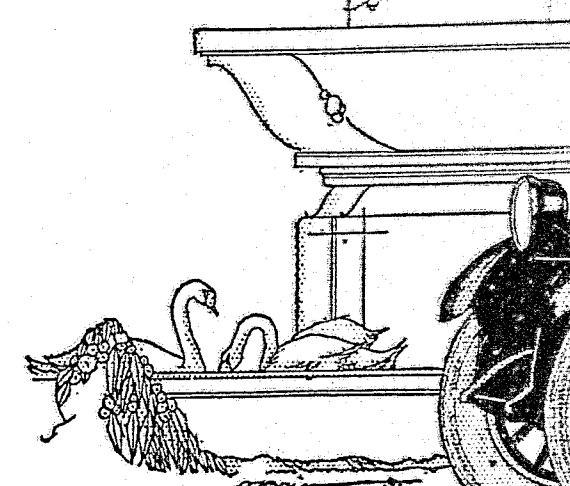

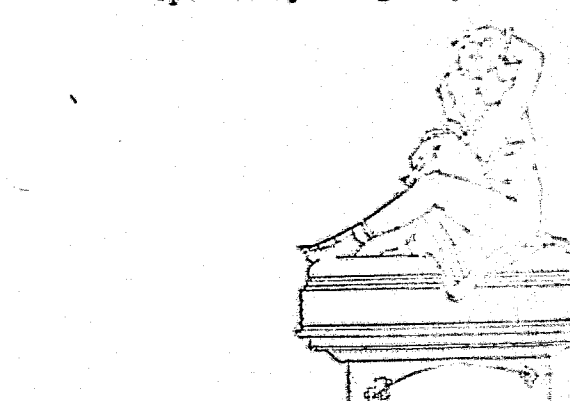

Examine the Standard Six Coach comparisons with other cars — and full meaning of One-Profit value.

A Coach of quality. It is called a coach only because closed car ever sold by Studebaker through and through.

Do not buy this coach with the have to trade it in at the end of one-year car.

Instead, it has been honestly thousands of miles of dependable.

Notice the durable wood upholstery, mental hardware; the plate glass the fine trim to hide all traces of the dash; automatic windshield ignition, steering gear, door operated by a single leg.

The 76th consecutive dividend of Central Maine Power Company, representing $178,130.71 that was mailed out on Oct. 1 to its 12,713 stockholders rounds out 20 years of steady dividends!

For a fifth of a century Maine people who have invested in Central Maine Power Company have been getting their dividend checks four times EVERY year with clock-like regularity.

These dividends should continue to go out four times every year just as long as people continue to use electricity to light their homes and run their factories and mills. It is difficult to imagine that people will ever go back to the kerosine lamp and the old way of running machinery by hand. Electricity is now in such universal use that it is practically the cheapest commodity we use.

Mail Coupon Before Oct. 10

The next dividend payment is due on Jan. 1. Shares purchased before Oct. 10 will draw interest from Oct. 1. Why don't you, too, get in line for your part of this money?
